

The land was dry enough for Daddy to cultivate and so now in the summer fallow this afternoon Pretty cool this morning but got hotter in the day. The was a touch of frost in the early last night but on the level

Wednesday September 20th I cut corn all morning and got a great deal faster with the binder twine. Daddy finished chovelling on the ditches on the other side of the gate.
 Baby came over and brought Bill with him. We were very surprised to see him. He left the West last Friday night and got home last night. He says he had a very fine trip. He could have stayed longer, done his work but he had to get home in time to vote for McColl. I cut corn all afternoon till six. Dick came back about five and cut while I went up and got a drink. Then he went over to look at the chestnuts but he says they are not much good. We did not get through chares till late to night because I did not quit soon enough and get the cows up. I made 29 stacks all told this day and a lot of money set. Dick and I went to hear the returns of the election. We were to hear that Charlton had been elected by a narrow margin. We went up to see the returns and heard the returns. Dick says he is from the party that Charlton had been elected by a narrow margin. We went up to

Thursday September 21st Cut corn this morning and Daddy worked on the wherry and Mr. Dyer came over for a while while he has a boil on his head and his arm a little Watson's call got into our place this morning and I had to take them out. A pretty get with them as I was not quick enough to hear her off. I could not get them separated so she stayed over here and I had to get her to night with a lot of trouble.
 This afternoon Daddy Noah and I drove down town. I was sprinkling a little and we could not work. Daddy went up to the school house and notes and Noah got the books out of our pew in church.
 They are fixing the church all different inside.
 About half the population of Dover was drunk to day. I suppose because the bars are all supposed to be closed. There have been two or three election fights
