

Monday April 24, 1922.
 I went to Chatham on the noon car and on the Grand Trunk to London and attended the Presbytery Synod.
 The day was fine.

Tuesday April 25, 1922.
 I attended Synod during the day and called in to see the Post Office Inspector.
 The day was very fine.

Wednesday Apr. 26, 1922.
 I attended the morning session of the Synod and started for home on the 11.50 a.m. car to Chatham and came on the 2.15.
 The day was cloudy and sprinkled rain.

Thursday April 27, 1922.
 I delivered mail on the whole route with Dick.
 Kent worked at stretching the fence
 in front of the lawn and grading
 the approach to the gate.
 The day was fine but rather cold. The roads are good.
