

January, 18th 1892.

Mon. 18. Quite mild in the morning, commenced snowing about eleven o'clock, from the south turning north east and snowing very heavily all day with the appearance of continuing all night.

Tue. 19. Snowing till noon, fall of snow about 6 inches, turning very cold after it cleared off. Went to P.M. H. S.

Wed. 20. Very cold, thermometer at 30, a beautiful bright day melting considerable, but cold again to night.

Thu. 21. Cold, but beautiful day, drifting some in the morning, helped to catch several storm horses which ran away at the station while unloading.

Fri. 22. Quite mild in the morning, and commenced snowing about noon, and turning almost to rain at night.

Jan. 23rd 1892.

Sat. 23. Beautiful day, mild and clear, appearance of snow at night.

Sun. 24. Snowing all day, but very light partly clearing off at night. Grip.

Mon. 25. Lovely winters day, very mild, sun shining at intervals, an unlucky day for the boys, having upset their load of hay twice, and stray once, turning colder at night with high winds and squalls.

Tue. 26. Very cold, sun shining in the morning, very cold wind all day. Thermometer 20°

Wed. 27. Cold and raw, cold west wind with a light snow fall towards night, Mrs Warner, and Ida visiting at Alfred Brown's

Thu. 28. Mild, very fine snow falling nearly all day, N. T. de Train derailed at Rapune Mills played croquet with W. Mitchell in the forenoon saw Harry McCannan.