

and then we went to get some material for underwear and to hunt up some body to take us to the band prom on Monday. We went down to Ben's summer garden which was packed and then young Charlie Blake who had no one to take with him to the prom because on that account had not intended going but he said he would take us, so Marie had a dance with him and then we came home rather late.

Sunday August 21st

Marie, Marie and I went to Sunday school and Dad & Cash went down church. I walked home but Mr. Lamb drove Mrs. Clarke over here after church on his car and the girls came over with him. We didn't do much but he around this after noon except Marie Marie. Jim went down to take a picture of Jack's deer. There was a great crowd down there looking at them. Ruth went down town to tea as she had to play to day. Alan had was in the night to invite some of us down there to thrash to-morrow, which was rather provoking as Dad had figured on plowing while I was at the band picnic, however I guess he will have to go to that

Monday August 22nd

We got every thing done up in good time this morning and Dad started for Sam's and was down there all day. Charlie Blake came along about 4.30 and picked Marie Marie several baskets came as coats my horn Marie's knitting & me and we set sail for Fisher's Glen. We called around to the town hall where the rest of the boys were congregated to see if there was any one else wanted to go with us. We found that Mr. Doc Lemmons had decided not to go because of lack of accomodation so we went up there. She called the girls in to make sandwiches for her and after a great deal of flurry of bustle on their part and calm patient waiting on Charles's dinner we got away and after a very nice drive arrived at the Glen first of all with Carl Polman hard on our track. It was an ideal day and every body had a good time. I would have had a better time if they hadn't made me play base ball but as there was a great game scheduled between the Leary and light horns I had to take my place. We played about nine or ten innings with an indoor ball
