

Had gone to Mrs. Jamieson's on Euclid ave. so went around there to see her - After tea Dick took me over to see Dorothy and Gwen. Mary Taylor (Principal Taylor's daughter) was there. Had an hour's chat - Then Dick called for me.

Dong's latest: -

"Life is a rush, life is a dash, I wonder if Daddy didn't have anything to do if he could drive slowly."

Saturday lovely day. Little cooler. Dong and I Oct-23rd walked over to Yonge St. for bread, eggs and wool. Went down on streetcar to Luther Ave. on way to Admiral Road to see Madame Lurie. Empty house at address given: 17 Admiral Road. Walked, via St George St. to Dorothy's room to deliver her letter.
She was out. Went to Madame "The Maid of the Mountains" in the hall. Very, very good. Costumes beautiful. Very crowded, standing at
