

THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1870.

The boys are at the paint work of it.
I have been busy
getting ready for Charing which I want to con-
mence to morrow.

Mother has had a lot of visitors to day.
My sister and Mrs. George Hall; Mrs. Wilkinson
and Mrs. Fiedals. This is accounted for, partly by our having plenty of strawberries.

In reviewing the religious experience of the past day I see nothing that I have cause to regret having done neither do I feel condemned for having gone as far from following the Master as I
all by divine grace.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1870.

The boys have been
drawing out manure
to day as usual.

This afternoon Mother and I went up to Lincoln and Green back by Dover. I mailed
a little note to J.
Mc. S. while in Dover.
We had a couple of
pumps put in this morning. One in the well by the door and the other in the
cistern at the farm.
This is a great convenience such I don't see how we have got along such a great while without.
I am getting ready now for a trip down to the D.
at S. Colton.
