

SUNDAY, JANUARY 2, 1870.

The past day very rainy so much so that Mother and I have neither of us been able to leave for Divine Service.

Notwithstanding this it has been a day of considerable profit to my poor soul. I have been reading the lesson of Father's leaves, the Methodist Class reader, the first volume Covenant is as follows.

"O Lord, I am thine, say ^{my} thy of these spirit one thus fear, help one to glorify thy name; and if thou takeest me, take me to thyself. If thou I am thy servant - M. Reeves.
These words I can also subscribe as the expression of my inmost heart. C. C. Allen

MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1870.

Again we have had another stormy day. But instead of rain we are now having snow. The weather has also become a good deal colder. Chas. and I have been sharpening axes and my carpenter tools this afternoon &c.

For-night I went down to Smith's. We arranged our school accounts satisfactorily, with but little trouble.

I have two-day been somewhat tried and tempted but in going to the Lord with my diffities, I was not only delivered but He gave me a glorious victory over my enemies. Lord help me to be steadfast & immovable
