

and Frank and I followed soon after. It was the bay pacer that Charlie bought from Beswetherick and evidently sold to Jack and Dad. & Anderson who was seen from since agreed that he had tetanus, so Anderson gave him an injection of antitoxenic serum and left instructions for Dad to give them every six hours. Dad says he is sure the horse is too far gone to be helped, and anyway there was no curative properties claimed for that stuff it being merely a preventive, however he has gone over three times and that is all he has to. This afternoon Frank and I put through the few bushels of wheat in Ed's big bin which will be saving for chicken feed. Bruce Smith was in for quite awhile this afternoon for a visit. Cuck has been down all the afternoon at the dentist and felt pretty rotten over it to night. It has been a nice day to day.

Wednesday June 21st

It started to rain about six o'clock this morning and rained till about nine or ten o'clock. It wasn't a bad day after that sunny and cool. Dad spent most of the morning over at Muther's the horse was so bad this morning that Joe Gills shot it. I didn't do anything much but help Cuck tear the cover off the sun chair as she wants to put a new one on. This afternoon I read & slept most of the afternoon but did go out and put the wheat back in the bin which Frank and I cleaned up yesterday. Just before tea Frank and I took Elgithouse to Ham Thompson's. Frank was down ^{after} ~~near~~ ^{town} ~~here~~

Thursday June 22nd

This morning Dad left for Charlie Dunkin's to see if he couldn't hurry him up to get the old ram registered and also to pay him the service fee of his ram. I would have gone but Dad thought as Uncle Ward enjoyed his drive so much on Sunday he would ask him and I thought he would enjoy it more with Dad than with me so I persuaded him to go. They left about ten o'clock and didn't get back till about five and I guess both of them had a great day of it. Dunkin wasn't home when they got there so they stayed to dinner. Uncle Ward knew them well, used to go to parties with him, and I suppose he had a great talk. Dad says his crops and the crops of his near neighbors look immense but that is the only place they do. The rain has been just what they want up there. They saw Frank Mall on their way home and he told them that
