Treatment of Hyperidrosis.

Excessive sweating of the feet or of the other portions of the body is best treated, according to Gerson, by wringing out the stocking or other portions of the underwear in a mixture of one part of formalin (40 per cent.) and four parts of alcohol. The underclothing does not suffer and the skin seems to tolerate this method of applying formaldehyde better than the usual local applications with a brush.—Mediz. Klinik.

Weather

Temp.

Warmer & drier raining for a wonder. Maude & Grace went to school, John went to Ayliner & got Billy shod. Billie Davis brought out some medicine for the little hand. I have been working on Grace's dress all day
