April 30, 1907.

Dr J. A. Cross, Youngstown, Ohio, says:

"I have been prescribing Pepto-Mangan (Gude) for some time and find it an almost ideal remedy in anemia, in convalescence after severe illness, such as typhoid and pneumonia, and after operations, and in all conditions requiring a hematinic and reconstructive remedy. It does not derange digestion nor cause constipation."

Cold & disagreeable all day
John ploughed the potato patch. Shed was here & Clifford & Wilfred was here
a few minutes Maudie went out to Eugene's for dinner; I finished Melba raw silk quiddy & nearly made Maudie's old, blue silk over in a quiddy.
John has gone to Aylmer
