176 TO COME

Syphilo-Dermo-Urologic Aphorisms.

When a patient is entering, or has entered into the secondary stage of syphilis, care should always be taken to examine his eyes, as well as his eye-lids. This is the period when iritis, conjunctivitis, and other symptoms of the infection, are prone to declare themselves. It is well to discover these, in time, because remedial measures are then of more use than later on, when the pathological changes have become more pronounced.—Amer. Journ. of Derm.

Weather

Temp.

A fine day
cold at night. I washed, & played the
potatoes & went to my line. Eugene & Delbert, Mr. White & John have been at the hay
all day. Some people came here at night enquiring
the way to Clarence & mine.
