

Thursday April 19th

Tom and I got the last two anchor posts for the side hill fence set to-day. Put me in this forenoon and one this after noon. Mary had a visit from Mrs. Walker this after noon. She came up to help her iron but unfortunately Mary had finished her ironing before dinner. It has been cloudy and a high north-west gale getting colder all day. Dad. Dad. Aunty Alice. Tom and Enah all drove to Toronto this after noon to see "The Merchant of Venice." To-night,

Friday April 20th

Tom and I continued work at the fence all day and got all the braces in and all wired but two. I cut most of the braces out of the limbs of the tree we cut up this winter. I thought all along it was an ash but when taking the bark off some of the limbs I noticed that it wasn't Ash bark but looked like Hickory. It isn't a Shagbark and on comparing the buds I found it wasn't either Hickory or Ash, but think it must be Pig nut or Bitter nut. Frank came over for dinner and brought a parcel that came yesterday from Estoria. Ina was here all day sewing. Mary's dance to-night. We didn't go. Fine, cool wind.

Saturday April 21st

Tom had to go and help Harvey Evans saw wood this morning so I worked alone and got the last two braces wired and anchored down two line posts in a low spot one to a rock and the other to a root. It rained all the after noon. Frank called up and said he couldn't get out over Coleman's hill but I said I would like to go down to have a hair cut so he came out by the mill and got me. I got my hair cut. Had a bath at Aunty's and changed the Library book. Just before we left for home Mary called up and said Harry B had earache so I went around to Dr. Cook's and got something for it. but he has felt pretty miserable all evening. It turned out a very bad night so Frank drained the ear and stayed here all night.

Sunday April 22nd

We got up late this morning and have just staid around all day reading Hunting tower by Buean which I got from the Library. Frank left about 11 o'clock for Pickford's going out to the highway from here. Dad. & Enah were out to see how Harry B was. He felt better but his ear hurt most of the night. (Largely) (Largely)
