

Sunday, October 17

290 DAYS PAST

75 TO COME

Ptomain Poisoning.

Ptomain poisoning is one of the commonest, one of the most popular and fashionable diagnoses of the day among a certain class of practitioners. Yet this diagnosis will seldom stand criticism. Many of the cases to which this name is given turn out to be appendicitis, gall-stones, intestinal obstruction, pancreatitis, a gastric crisis in tabes, lead-poisoning and other diseases having nothing to do with ptomains.—Richard C. Cabot; J. A. M. A.

Weather

A fine day

Temp.

Girls went to Wesley's Mission to church then, home with Cingenes for dinner. Then over Joe Sunday's school home. John & I was home went to Dan Lopez a little while to my apt. Dan boy & a line of rec'd was over this afternoon Mariah B

291 DAYS P

who gener
jects to l
pleasant to efficient ge astringent
void of co

Weather

Had
open
had
be
Dunt
Park's
Girls
was one evening
Ma