

Nov 8th 1892.

Tue. 8. Very high west wind today cold and cloudy. Broke up housekeeping and commenced boarding with Mrs Cowan took a walk this afternoon down to Mrs Geo Harding and Mr John Harding on an errand for Mrs Cowan. At Mrs Chestan home for tea and spent the evening.

Wed. 9. Dull cloudy day. Sun only out a little while in the morning cold east wind at night having the appearance of snow

Thurs. 10. Snowing this morning, ~~ground~~ about 3. or 4 inches having fallen during the night and this forenoon slackening up at noon, quite wintry at night turning cold and strong north. at Mr Wood's visiting

Nov 11th 1892.

Fri. 11. Cold today being 12° above zero in the morning but moderating at noon snow melting in the afternoon finished making up the coal today. (No. 5) spent the eve at Mrs Cowan's field her stove at night so there would be fire there next morning it was an experiment but it was a successful one. she having had much trouble with it on previous occasions.

Sat. 12. Very fine today snow almost gone it having gone during the night previous. Blacked the stove for dinner in the forenoon, and visited at Mr Fort's in the afternoon. Attended practice at night.