

TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1870.

Working still, as hard as ever. Making some progress too. Thank God. I am fully satisfied that without His blessing we can do nothing ever in a worldly point of view.

Last night we were visited by an abundant shower of rain. Today we finished cutting the Big Flat and besides I got in four loads. One of my horses is quite sick with the distemper. His parents as four drawing with two teams as I intended. Deary has been helping us again today.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1870.

It rained most of the forenoon so that we could not work at the hay. This afternoon however we got at our work. We are now getting the Big Flat fairly well under way and we hope to finish it to-morrow.

We had Mr. Eberwood to see us to night.

I am now reading in my Bible the last of First Samuel. It contains some beautiful lessons of Godliness and God-hearance. Such examples are indeed worthy to be followed. Lord help me, to love my neighbor as myself.
