

June 6th 1892 Mon, 6, Very close and warm in the morning also foggy, which ascended, to return afterwards in the shape of a very heavy rain, coming down in torrents most of the afternoon accompanied by two or three heavy peels of thunder, clearing of about four o'clock P.M.

Milk worked very fast today the spare vat which was used to-day for the first, was the fastest I ever experienced in less than two hours after the milk was heated up, it was salted. Hired Robert Murphy to help for a while.

June 7
Lovely day, fine and warm milk worked fine to-day getting through at an early hour, and going to Kingston with J. Lane for a few goods

Such as edibles, for Mr. Murphy also others things, Hair Cut, Etc.
Dull cloudy day, some distant thunder, to the south of here commenced raining about one o'clock P.M. and continued all the afternoon, the fall was heavy, lovely evening mostly cloudy J. Lane and myself, at Mrs. Coward's Dull cloudy morning commenced raining about 9 o'clock A.M., very steady until 4 o'clock P.M. Lovely moonlight night, having the appearance of settled weather for a while My Birth-day June 9th

Fine cool day after the rain, Lovely moonlight tonight but a little cool, vegetation rapidly drooping, with the promise of a good crop things
