

Thursday Feb. 10, 1921.

I delivered mail on the whole route with Queen and Dick.

They are still afraid to cross the O'Mara bridge.

Mable is in with her mother.

Roy has a cold and stayed in all day except a while that he was out with English and Johnson. Ida is here yet.

Mabel expected to come on the 9 a.m. car but her mother became worse and she didn't come. I went over to see the men in the bush in the morning.

The day was mild and thawed some but it is freezing again this evening.
