34 DAYS PAST

331 TO COME

Cautionary Points in Anesthesia.

The practice of covering a patient's face with a towel after operation, while he, still unconscious, is being taken on a stretcher to his room is to be condemned. So is anesthetizing a man in a poorly illuminated room. It is risky to send the etherizer away from an unconscious patient to begin anesthetizing another case, unless some attentive and experienced assistant is specifically notified to watch the patient's gradual recovery from anesthesia. I have seen a patient vomit under such circumstances, when no attendant was close at hand to see that asphyxia did not occur.—Dr. J. B. Roberts; Therap. Gaz.
