242 DAYS PAST

Wednesday 124 TO COME

Ivy Poisoning.

No scratching; no ointments in the acute stage; no bandages (which would tend to spread the poison to adjacent surfaces); any protector, if necessary, should be a loosely applied dressing of absorbent cotton, kept moist at all times and changed frequently; frequent and copious washings with luke-warm water and an unirritating soap; the inflamed surface is best handled by means of rubber gloves; after washing the parts apply a 2-4 per cent. warm solution of potassium permanganate, which completely neutralizes any poison with which it comes in contact. After the acute stage is past ointments are permissible.—Med. Times.
