

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1870.

Charley and I
furrowed ^{the} fields in front of the tenant House this morning. Towards noon I went out to Dover to take mother & sister.

We took dinner at Miss Howells. I attended the meeting of the Norfolk Windmill Company
this afternoon. It was decided to accept an offer made for the Company's property by a firm down East. It will amount to about fifty percent of the whole stock of the Company.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1870.

Ma and I went out to Dover this morning to hear our old father in Christ
Father Presmore.
He gave us an excellent discourse from
"This is a faithful
saying, and worthy of all acceptation".
His discourse was animated, and as full of life and power as though he were a man of God, instead of three poor and thin.
He had our dinner
at Mrs. Howells
after which we came home. I have enjoyed communion
with God and fellow ships of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ & d
