

cut in the wheat which blew down last fall and has been holding Suey's fence down ever since. This morning Suey's young cattails were in the wheat and got over the fence then so Dad thought it had better be straightened up. He spent the forenoon and he and Frank all the afternoon fixing Suey's line fence in the gully from the south creek to the big elm by the mound. It was in very bad shape so they took it all down and put in a few posts and stretched it over again. I had the potatoes in the garden this afternoon. They are just nicely up. Sid was home from school today so this is the King's birthday. He was back with Dad and Frank this afternoon and they discovered a crow's nest so Frank went up and took the four young ones which were just about big enough to fly and Dad brought them all up to the house in his shirt and put them in his big bird cage. Sid is highly delighted of course. Enah wasn't home for tea as she went down to the beaver meeting. Light coal.

Friday June 4th

We have spent the day weeding and hoeing in the garden. Most of the stuff is pretty well up now and needs churning out. This afternoon Frank went over to Edward England's to see a sheep dipping and castrating demonstration which Neff was putting on. I went down town to night and called for Auntie Alice at Col. Snitler's a little after eleven. They were having a little bridge party over there and I got there in time for the cake and wine. Quite a cold wind & cloudy.

Saturday June 5th

Dad, Frank and I went out again to the garden this morning. Frank planted some beans and Dad set out tomatoes while I hoed and weeded. We hadn't been there long when it commenced to sprinkle and it gradually increased in intensity until finally it was raining quite hard. Dad and I stayed out till we got pretty wet setting out tomatoes, we then came up and Dad and Frank spent the remainder of the forenoon putting a floor in Joe's stall and I painted a show card box. The rain kept up pretty well all day and night. I went to sleep this afternoon and the other sat around the house. I painted some more to night. Fine rain.

Sunday June 6th

Frank, Dad and I went to Sunday school this morning and Dad and Enah went down to Church. Mary and I stayed at Auntie's to dinner. Winnie was there. Mary, Auntie Alice and I came over here to the farm this afternoon and Winnie came over later for tea. We all went down town before dark as Auntie Alice wanted to get some cauliflower plants at the Swanberry's.
