

January Friday 28 1927

Roscoe and I attended the Jelfs girls party at night and I had a dandy time. Had a few nice dances with Jean, my first niece, the early hours of the first morning of 1927 and we had a nice chat and lunch together on the kitchen sofa even if they did throw paper at us. Home at 5 P.M.

Saturday 29

Felt fine, considering the fact that donkey had three hours sleep. Lloyd Rose came out in afternoon and helped me wash bottles. Work was through work in good time at night. Retired at eight o'clock right after supper for a real night sleep.

Sunday 30

My third last Sunday as an M.P. was rather against me for me until night when I drove into town, spent a few minutes at Eleanor's, then Jean and I found a collecting route west wind up home where I made a short call and then drove the sideroad to Calamity farm for lunch. It was an interesting and happy drive and evening for me. Home at 1:30 after a fast busy week.

January Monday 31 1927

The weather was considerable colder and maybe it wasn't slippery. Sligh broke down by Grandma Sinclairs and I waited for over an hour before Alex came in with the truck and we piddled the rest of the milk. Left the team at "Hicks" to get shed, bought Skellys slighs and had them attached to the box. The end of a happy month and only a few more days to piddle milk.
February Tuesday 1

Had a busy day collecting accounts on the milk route and used the new slighs for the first time. A dandy mild day and the snow and ice melted fast.

Wednesday 2

A dandy bright day and the bear saw his shadow. It was a snow of cold weather but what do I care with only a few more weeks at Bendemer. Used Dollens the milk wagon. Had a dandy time at Jean's at night. Saw the wedding cake and a piece of the cloth. Jean's wedding dress is to be made up. Oh! Boy how I hated to come home.
