

Tuesday March 15th. I have just returned from holding office to my Sister's husband. Tomorrow he starts to visit a home in the "far west" and in a few weeks, my dear, and only, Sister will follow him, leaving her home and kindred all for love of him. I shall be very lonely when she is gone. They are young and hopeful, may the future be as fair and bright in realization as their fondest anticipations have pictured it. May they always remain young in feeling and their hearts never grow cold in contending with the stern realities of life. Life is all untimed as yet before them. May their trust be firm in "Israel's God"; and their faith grow brighter and brighter till the perfect day.
