

feet. They have hurt her so much lately. The perscription some sort of support which she ordered and told her she had been wearing shoes that were too small.
Winonie Aland was here when I came home but didn't stay long. She came over for a couple of cans of dextrin maltose for her baby. Mary told her she had a couple of cans on hand to dispose of. I drove Mary over to the farm & Enah went on down town with her which I cooked hay till she got back.

Enah stayed down to go to Choir practice to night.
Dave's cows had been in on my alfalfa to day & poor old Dave had hobbled over to tell Mary. & was rather peeved so I fixed the fence after I got home to night which made me pretty late getting through.

Saturday July 3rd

I got the mower out to cut the alfalfa this morning but as the seat was gone and I couldn't get the old seat ready with out taking it to Evans Mary decided she had better go to town this morning instead of this after noon and she took the seat down to Evans for me. She took down about a dozen boxes of straw berries which she had picked and sold them for 14 cts per box.

I cut some seed potatoes while she was gone and cut the alfalfa this afternoon. To night Mary dropped the potatoes that I cut and I had some of them in

Sunday July 4th

We did a few odd jobs this morning and then all snoozed till about four o'clock when we drove over to the farm for awhile. Aunt was over then We read the account of the fortune in The Globe which gave a much greater space to it than the Mail & Empire. Warm and dry quite windy.

Monday July 5th

I went over home this morning and got the rake and raked up the alfalfa before dinner and got part of it cooked this afternoon but quit early and got ready for Jim Ryerson's serenade to night & then Hurvey Bose & Harper called for me before I had shaved. We had a great spread out here and a sort of practice. Walt Steele pretended to lead us as Enie Knight had a blue streak on and wouldn't come down with Sid Besamont, much to the latter's disgust.
Mary was down town this afternoon peddling straw berries.
