

April 13th 1892.

Wed, 13.

Bright lovely day much more pleasant than it has been for some time a number of Boys with my really foot balled Jack Skinner while he returned the compliment by throwing water at us from the pump on this stoop, (Horn's house) considerable cooler today a raw cold wind today from the north east. partly cloudy roads just beautiful Packing my trunk to be in readiness for to-morrow's stage to Kingston. to get the my factory in shape to start on Monday 17th inst. Factory is near Kingston

Thur, 14.

April 15th 1892.

Fri, 15.

Bright and clear, but cold and windy. Left Camden East, Per. Stage at 8:15 A.M. for Kingston dining with Mr. James Clarke (Stage Driver) at Windsor Hotel, after dinner called to see Mr. L. W. Murphy at his store, we walked around to gather for a while, then we joined the funeral procession which was en route to the Catholic Church, on arriving there we draped out and returned, calling at Henderson's Photography where he had his Photo taken, After ^{wards} we muddled our way to a livery, and engaged a rig to take me to Dufferin, where my Factory was located, we had a pleasant drive and were soon there, After looking around we

Good Friday.