Ringworm.

A four-per-cent. solution of formaldehyde in glycerin is highly extolled as a remedy in this affection. All grease should be first removed with oil turpentine, followed by soap and water. Then apply the formaldehyde glycerin, and repeat several times for about an hour. One prolonged treatment of this kind is usually sufficient.—Clinical Review.

Weather Nice day. Cold this morning but thawed this afternoon. Temp.
and mother went to town. Dad went to Cotton's sale with Shed and Albert. I did all the chores and all the work. ha.
