

FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1870.

To-day we have
been into our har-
rest, with all our
might. Mr. Fiskale
helped us with his
boy. He got our eleven acre field about two-thirds down and nearly up in shock. We find the wheat
quite as good as we expected, and it is so plump that it
shells now although the straw is green.

"The fruits of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness,
meekness, faith, goodness, temperance." This is the fruit that God expects. Shall we not strive with His grace to do all He expects of us?

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1870.

Our calculations
for ^{the} ~~the~~ harvest reversed by rain. We have been cutting thistles, &c.
most of the time,
or rather the boys
have, while I have been working at my weapon rack.

"Present your bodies
as living sacrifices, holy acceptable to God." Do not conform to the world, but be ye transformed, by the renewing of your minds. Make not provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof. "His benevolence does not agree with unbelief and here
consequently it exercises great grace
to fulfill it."
