

Monday November 14th Dad drove Sid down to school this morning and took Eulah down to her father's. He has been quite sick with neuralgia and had to have a couple of baths to-day. I spent most of the forenoon doing chores. Art and Charlie Quaubury came over to borrow the waggon and hog rack. Dad went out when he came home and bagged up some of the potatoes that were in the field in piles, and after dinner I went out with him and finished the job, then we got Charlie Quaubury to haul them up when he came back with the waggon.
Dad drove down after Sid and Eulah but Eulah walked home before he found her. Mary went down right after dinner and stayed at Auntys for tea & went to the Girls Auxillary to-night. I went down to band practice to-night and we both stayed at Auntys all night. The band boys got paid off for the summer concerts to-night. I drew mindfully

Tuesday November 15th
Dad drove Sid down this morning and did a horse About eleven o'clock we went out with the team and put on a load of mangels, we thought it was cold haul up all that were left out there in one load but found we couldn't so didn't haul a very big one this time and put it off before dinner. The parts of the mangels that stuck above ground have been frozen through but they seem firm. We don't know how they will keep so we put them in the barn to feed up right away.

Mary came home about eleven and Eulah went down town right after dinner to see her father. Dad had to go down to the bank to renew one of Frank's notes so he drove her down. He got back as I was putting in the last of the second load of mangels so we went up to the barn with me and then had to go after the unloaded them. Eulah had a letter from Marion Futcherland to-day, she is in Ireland. Much milder.

Wednesday November 16th Dad started ploughing again this morning and got in a fair day although he didn't get a very early start as the colts were over east of the orchard and we had to get them back. We turned them and the cattle on the sick where the mangels were and the cattle have spent most of the time eating the mangel tops. I chased them off once but they wouldn't stay. It hasn't
