Geriatric Aphorisms—No. 2.

Voluntary muscles that have been actively employed undergo atrophy; if they have not been actively employed they undergo fatty degeneration. The former are thin, firm and have clearly defined borders; the latter are soft, flabby with indefinite borders.—Nascher; Amer. Med.

Weather

Temp.

Fine & warmer, quite a change. The men had to shovel the roads out before they could get through, & now we have to drive through Clarence & Skimmers, then Elgin Clarke then back through John & Skimmers. Handie road out with Clarence, boy, when they took the milk I went for her, the roads are so tight from here to our east farm, Took Mrs Dr. Pickering two chickens.
