

SUNDAY, JANUARY 30, 1870.

This morning my mother and I went out to church at Cover. Our dear Mrs.
Carnan preached.
This morning. At 10
this evening she
preached again to us.
We took dinner at Mrs. Howell's. I went to hear Mr. Wilson of California preach
at the Presbyterian church this afternoon.
After the service
was over I went over to teach for tea, with the girls. Mary Thompson was there, and
Andrew Jones.

I do not altogether
believe in helping
such company on the Holy Sabbath.

MONDAY, JANUARY 31, 1870.

Charley has been thanking God for his day.
I cut wood this forenoon just before dinner I was surprised
a little to see my friend George Ferguson of port Kowloon. He is on his way down
to his father's at Fairfax and wants
me to accompany him.
After consulting mother
and giving the matter
a little consideration
I concluded to go with him. We got started about two and had to stop at Jarvis to get the horse shod. Got down to Mrs. Thompson's about six o'clock
where we put up for the night.
