

The image shows the front cover and spine of an antique book. The spine is bound in dark, worn leather. The front cover is decorated with a traditional marbled paper pattern, featuring a dense, repeating motif of interlocking, scalloped shapes in shades of brown, green, blue, and gold. The text is printed in a classic, serif font in a light, possibly gold or cream, color. The overall appearance is that of a well-used, historical volume.

DAILY JOURNAL
1920