

in the way of new Bars & house alterations to the present one.

You will all have to have things very nice but don't give up work as that's a source of health & pleasure when you have not to worry about want of money.

You will have to come over with Mr. Barrett to see the old country. Perhaps you would like to settle here, but I expect the land of one's birth holds one.

Well there is nothing to worry about til it is only a matter of time. Glad the tree is flourishing

Hope Mr. Barrett's children you are all well & that poor old Paul is better. Tell Sam to write to me till we know his stock is getting on Kindest regards to all Yours very sincerely
Walter D. Parks

3 Moss Hall Crescent
Finchley
London N. 12.
29th July 1925

My dear Loby,

As I have written to all the other folks I thought I would drop you a line.

Am awfully sorry that I could not get a final decision these sittings of the Court but I suppose it was too much to expect from the old Master. He has a good deal of authority & you have to humour these fellows if you want to get on as they can make things very unpleasant if you upset them.

I have had one or two tussles with