ROBERT DUNCAN & CO.
Bookellers,
HAMILTON - ONTARIO

April 7th (Monday) arrived home in Hamilton at 7:50 this morning after being in Cal, since Dec 3rd. Grandpa Boniface was at the station to meet us, we took street car to 84 Grosvenor, and had a big blow out of a feed, feeling pretty tired after being on the train since Thursday night at 6:50 PM 3 days and 4 nights.
Called up Ida who took us out to Burlington to see all the folks found them all fairly well, but Grandpa who was not very well - John + Smith have all the calluses transplanted and nearly all the Tomatoes, and they all look very good.

B & Herts + Lda drove us back to Hamilton at night.
April 8th. Took street car up to James st. and got our auto

Mr. Dickey's accusations regarding beverage rooms are given emphatic denial by a Herald reader.
Editor, The Herald.—A lot of people have been having a poke at the beverage parlours, so suppose for a change we have a poke at the pokers, especially our friend, Mr. Dickey, who, as a poker, pokes you a long letter against beverage parlours.

The statements, one and two, written by Mr. R. M. Dickey, as emanating from Hon. T. B. McQuestion and Crown Attorney Balthard do not mean that it has to be assumed that all the accidents and fatalities happened because the beverage parlours came into existence. It would show an honesty of purpose if these gentlemen would give us the percentage of the actual fatalities and accidents that really can be traced to the beverage parlours.

That there are 54 authorities in Hamilton shows that they are required.

That there are taverns near churches and schools, is better than having bootleggers in side streets.

The statements by farmers and their wives are just a booby to make the tale more pathetic.

The reason why people did not purchase a permit, was because they were too British to become slaves, and be given a number before they could buy a drink. They preferred to break an absurd law by patronizing speakasies, a far more deadlier evil.

Mr. R. M. Dickey's idea of making people obtain a license before they can go into a parlour to obtain their refreshment is too silly for words.

We shall ignore it and sincerely hope that Mr. Dickey will not join those extreme, intemperance teetotalers, but become a sincere worker for temperance in all its branches.

T.C.W.

And shall we march to Passendale again?

Editor, The Herald.—Some time before the world war came and took millions of lives and destroyed billions of dollars worth of property, Dr. Alfred Russell Wallace said: "Man has shown no improvement, either in intellect or morals, from the days of the earliest Egyptians and Assyrians, down to the keel-laying of the latest dreadnought." And now, till this day we do not seem as if we have learned much from our loss in the great war. For we see that the nations that are generally considered to be the most intelligent are spending more in preparations for further destruction than ever before in history.

Considering that there are comparatively few of us who really realize what we have lost, or rather what we might have had for use and security if what was lost had been fairly distributed, may I offer a few lines from Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, New York: "The world war, all cost, apart from the 30 million lives, and 400 billion dollars, with that money we could have built a $2500 house, furnished it with $1000 worth of furniture, put it on 5 acres of land worth $100 per acre, and given this home to every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia; also a five million dollar library and a ten million dollar Home to these, and have plenty of money left for hospitals, doctors, nurses and such."

Then, what are we going to do about it? When the war propaganda starts again, and the band and bugles call, shall we march off to war, just as we did before? Or shall we let our governments know that war is unnecessary and that we all much prefer to have that five-acre home?

"War what for?" That's the question folks should seriously consider before they waste more billions of property and sacrifice un-seen lives, instead of preserving for a more healthy and happy life than man has yet experienced.

BLAKE GETS GOAL

Hamilton Tigers were given their closest shave of the season last night by the poorly regarded students of Varsity, having to come from behind in the second period to finally win out, and their march toward the finals remains unswelled.

Spasmodically the Collegians turned on the steam in such swirling gusts they forced the entire Hamilton team, disorganized by these lightning-like attacks, onto the defensive, and only the ubiquitous little Teno kept Toronto's total from assuming insurmountable proportions.

Team Over-Confident

On the whole, however, Bengals showed a better drilled, better organized squad. Apparently they took the ice under the impression Featherweight Champ, Freddie Miller of Cincinnati was credited with a most generous act. Boxing Gilbert Johnstone, the Scot champion, at Glasgow in a bout proceeds of which were devoted to the benefit of families of 3 miners killed in an accident, Miller asked only $1000 for his purse. After the match he turned over the entire amount to the fund.

Visiting Gaelic football players stood on the sidelines at University of New York stadium watching the local footballers at practice. A loose ball rolled to the sidelines and Mike Connaire, one of the visitors, picked it up, casually and drop-kicked the oval between the posts from 60 yards out. The local heroes stood rooted to the spot.

Tarzan Taylor, Marquette U. coach, has always maintained that his men have more brains than backs. Recently one of his forwards donned shirt, hat and coat to keep a date, and was outside before he realized he had forgotten his trousers. Taylor is having a hard time living it down.

Joe Bowman, New York Giant pitcher, was offered $4000 for his prospective share in the world series money one month before the Giants' spectacular collapse. He turned it down, "because I thought we would win."

World series sitting has an art all its own. Bill Cunningham, Detroit, won the championship this year, although he was beaten to the first seat by four hours. Art Flesch, of Milwaukee, who was at the Navin field gates before Cunningham, disqualified himself by sleeping out of line. Cunningham sat 13 days.

Budapest, Hungary, goes any brother act in athletics one better. The Kovacs, man and wife, share a family athletic ability, for Kovacs has recently won the European 110-metre hurdle title to match his wife's 110-metre Hungarian hurdling crown. Nov 27 another car of manure in covering strawberine

Nov 28th. Still another car in. Keeping is busy unloading & covering strawberine, heard some more music between 11 and 12 o'clock when the test was on for hearing the old country

Nov 29th. Still another car of manure in today this is the last one it makes seven cars this fall. heard some one talking foreign language at radio between 11 and 12 when the test was on. also had a fine loud concert from Atlanta Ga. also Dallas, Texas, went to bed about 2 o'clock

Nov 30th, Sunday. Fair & very cold was down to Leo. Hammonds for supper Dec 1st. Frozen up this morning. drawing the last of the manure 7 cars this fall,

Dec 2nd, Cold yet to much frost to plough nearly all the farmers have a labor of ploughing to do yet. It has been so dry, that it was too hard to plough on the clay
land, putting manure into Raspberries &
Blackberries, today.

Dec 2nd, very cold & cloudy drawing stumps from Geo Thomas' about 20
it is some tough
job, and a long drive nearly 10 miles

Dec 11th, Fine & clear and very cold ground frozen solid, still drawing stumps, could not be a better time to get them out, when the ground is frozen, Dec 5th, drawing stumps yet, have got 8

loads now, that is all he has, weather milder, raining
this afternoon, got 16 bus wheat for $20.00 from John Smith up near Thomas', having good time listening in in the Radio, got a surprise to night, had a concert on the steamer Leviathan on the Atlantic ocean, it was pretty good, in New York Harbor

Dec 6th. Cold & cloudy
did not do much,
but getting things straightened up for the winter. Smith & John building new front steps for Grandpa.

and lots of other
distant places.
Dec 12th: some more snow tonight, but milder, working in the barn again.
Dec 13th, milder this morning, but turning very cold at noon
with snow flurries
and frozen up again tonight with heavy west winds, still working in the barn Dec 14th - Sunday, cloudy & very cold, with some snow flurries only 5° from zero this morning they say

Dec 15th Very cold again this morning - worked in the barn fixing boxes + crates. I guess we are about done work. will not need Smith now regular guess he will have a hard time finding any work this winter

Dec 16th A little milder cloudy + looks like rain. Ida + Byron took Charlotte + Doris into see Santa Claus guess they had a big time. They all stopped for supper Radio was no good. because they stay also Mr Stuart across the road

Dec 17th Cloudy again getting cooler this afternoon, reported that it is 57 below zero out in Alberta yesterday

Dec 18th Cold + cloudy
east winds, light rain + sleet all day getting still colder out west reported 62 below in Alberta this morning morning + freezing on to every thing. getting very icy. ~~turning~~ cold tonight

Dec 20th Very cold only about 8 from zero. drove John + Grandpa up to see the Christmas market it was not very large

too cold I guess Bought 3 ~~seeds~~ at 23 ct/lb, weighed 15 lbs each Sunday, Dec 21, still very cold with some snow on the ground, 2 below zero in Toronto, so it must have been below here.

Dec 22. Very cold yet, drove down town Christmas shopping and to the station for some parcels from Toronto.

Dec 23rd. A little milder with some more snow, went up to Hamilton with some presents, also with the rollers of the Washing machine.

Dec 24th, working around the house and putting on storm doors getting colder again, fixed up our first Christmas tree tonight, some job

Dec 25th. Very cold below zero I guess.
Charlotte & Daisy had a big time, with the Christmas tree.
Went down to Johns
for dinner + supper John drove us home in the cutter, dandy sleighing, but snow not very deep
very cold tonight sure having a real winter.

Dec 26th. Cold with strong west winds but not as cold as yesterday.

Dec 27th. Colder again ~~than~~ guess it will be below zero tonight.

Dec 28. Sunday. Clear and very cold 6° below zero. as low as 10° + 12° below in Toronto on Saturday. and Sunday.

Dec 29. Cloudy and not quite so cold today & above zero this morning.

Dec 30. Milder today & cloudy all day, but did not thaw any.
