Invasion and Destruction of the Blood.

The vital elements of the blood, i.e., the red cells, are invaded and destroyed by the malarial plasmodie. In such instances the construction of new erythrocytes and the reconstruction of those partially destroyed is the main therapeutic indication. Pepto-Mangan (Gude) furnishes, in readily tolerable, promptly assimilable form, the ferric and manganic elements necessary to such constructive and reconstructive work.

Weather Very cold Temp.

Maudie was taken sick last night, at Mrs McLeays but is some better th day. I went out this afternoon, & then Mella came home with me. Mella has stayed to Mrs McLeays all the week. Cecil was over this morning & this afternoon. Paid the Dr an full. Paid Fred in full & returned one pair of shoes
