Monday
Syphilo-Dermo-Urologic Aphorisms.

The special care of the mouth and teeth, in syphilitics, should always be insisted upon by the attending physician. This is necessary, not alone as a measure of cleanliness, but also to act as a prophylactic, against the formation of mucous patches, and to place the buccal mucous membrane in a better condition to resist irritating influences.—Amer. Journ. of Derm.
