In the Various Life Processes

iron is essential, as it is the vital oxygen-carrying element of the blood. In anemic states Pepto-Mangan (Gude) furnishes iron (and manganese, its oxygenating partner) in a form peculiarly acceptable to the digestion, promptly absorbable and readily appropriable by the blood.

Weather

A fine day

Temp.

Good wheeling a few little flakes of snow. John went to Kingmill this afternoon, down to the chocks to night & sawed wood for Mr. Cox this forenoon. Had to make brine again for the sweet as the other leaked off. Melba & I went to Aylmer for the mail. Eugene was over to night & stayed until nearly ten & then went to Aylmer. Miller 3

I made soap & soap
