TUES. JULY 12, 1898

Wea.

This is a fine day, but warm and dusty. They are all away celebrating the 12th, but I had to stay home as usual I would liked to have gone, I went to the field and cut some straw for a hat or two James went up home last night,

WEDNESDAY 13

Wea.

I rose this morning and after breakfast Phemia came down to see if we would have any berries for sale, I then harnessed Dandy and went up to the station for the boys and James, they came all right, Lencie and I picked some red currants
