May 22, 1907.

Dr. J. F. Shane, Steubenville, Ohio, says:

"The sample of Pepto-Mangan (Gude) was received and tested in the case of a woman 47 years of age, convalescing from grip. Anemic, short of breath, puffy eyes and limbs and rapid pulse. With very little other medicine, improvement set in at once and about one bottle and a half was all that was needed to make a complete recovery. Have prescribed it with unvarying good results."
