

Wednesday, December 22

356 DAYS PAST

9 TO COME

Diagnosis of Empyema.

Suspect every case of so-called chronic pneumonia with a characteristic temperature and long continuance of cough, with or without expectoration, to be a case of empyema, and be thorough in your chest examination accordingly. The rapidity with which the chest fills with pus in children is as surprising as the fact that a condition as evident should be overlooked.—Rockey; Med. Sentinel.

Weather

A fine day

Temp.

*snowed about one inch this afternoon, John & I went down in the woods for a load of big woods picked swan chickens. Girls have gone to the entertainment with George Davis
out in the white school house.*

Mariah 5

357 DAYS

A ple
of iron
of viril bolic in Pepto-M
and for regular

Weather

*trains
the re
flute
Ay le
Abell
Aun
the g preen
gave then a
Ph. D sp cons*