

fixed the lawn mower all right and he was going to bring it back with him when he brought the car but he forgot. Frank went down town to night and got the mail. The rag man that interviewed Frank the other day came again and gave me 55 cents for all the stuff Frank had gotten up and borrowed my lead pencil which he has got. he gave a half a cent cash for rags or a cent in trade. he was very anxious in trade but the straight pails he had were worth 3.7406 and Cash said she could get them for 15 down town. This enough day till it rained pretty hot.

Tues day May 30th

It rained hard again during the night and every thing has been too wet outside to do any thing. Frank and Dad went down this morning to get some sand but there was a nice ridge of gravel washed up so they got a load of it and took it up to Auntys to put on the walk and after dinner went down and got another load, so didn't get any sand to put in the mud holes, at all. Dad nearly broke his neck this morning. He was up over the wood shed and when he started to come down his foot slipped on the top step and he fell from there to the landing or rather slid and hurt his back and then in stead of stopping at the landing he speered head first off it and hit square on his head between a couple of stoves. He felt as he said like Pete Jones "Considerably shook up" all day. I didn't do any thing much all day except prout around in the mud. This morning I made a mitre box which I believe is fairly true. After dinner I went back to the gully to see if the bars and gates were still shut as in their hurried exit yesterday Dad & Frank hadn't taken much pains but they were all right. The oaks and harkly back there are well up now and look fine as there is no grass in them at all it seems I brought the cows up with me and it was early but we got through early and Frank and I both went to the picture show to see Marguerite Clark in "The Crucible". It was a bad show Margorie Clarke & Glad Lane went with me. It rained again a little shower about four o'clock but has cleared off cold to night.

Wednesday May 31st

First thing this morning that Dad noticed was that Elzeitha wanted to take another trip to the hull. We were
