are tolerated and required by infants and children in very much larger relative doses than by adults. In order to obtain an effect in urgent cases (pneumonia, etc.), a baby one to two years of age should get 5 to 6 drops of a good tincture of digitalis every 2 to 3 hours until the number of pulse beats has been satisfactorily reduced. In very urgent cases much larger doses may be administered, 15 to 20 drops of tincture of digitalis, repeated once or twice after a few hours may be safely given to a baby one to two years old and may prove life-saving.—*Med.
