

Saturday May 22nd

I went over to Martin's first thing this morning and finished shearing the sheep. I got home about eleven and wheeled out a barrow load or two of manure to put around the hedge but as Frank had the seed potatoes all treated for scab and ready to cut. I cut them till noon. Dad plowed the potato ground this morning and Frank treated the seed and helped Dad jerk the manure out of the road of the shear. This afternoon Frank and I cut seed. It took us till after four as we cut it all. Dad worked down the land and furrowed it out but we didn't get it all planted. We planted four rows and Frank put fertilizer on three of them and Dad covered them. Fine and warm today.

Sunday May 23rd

I went down to Sunday school this morning and Dad, Leah and Sid to church. Mr. Johnson dedicated the new memorial font this morning which Miss Buck well put in the church in memory of her father & mother, and we had a baptismal service when five children were christened. This afternoon Mr. Johnson invited Mary & me to go to Vittoria with him. He told Mary to invite two more to make up a car load so she asked Miss M. Queen and her mother. We had a very nice afternoon and went to the woods up there while Mr. Johnson was at church. I come home and did chores and went down again to

Monday May 24th

Dad, Frank and I finished planting the potatoes this morning and got in ten rows altogether running from the lane to Ivey's line. We finished about eleven and then Frank went over to Martin's and got some strawberry plants. I took the buggy down to the mill and washed the mud off it. This afternoon Dad & Frank set out the strawberry plants and put a ring in Moonshine's nose but I took a holiday to celebrate the Queen's birthday and Mary and I went up the Radical road to look for Dogwood. We didn't find any but we dug up a lot of other roots and got some lovely violets. We also saw a scarlet tanager and an indigo bird neither of which had we ever seen before. We gave a lot of our roots to Miss M. Queen on our way home and she gave me some out of her garden to set out over here. I brought Mary over here to tea. Billy Mills was over after the corn-macker this morning and said the creek was lined with fishermen. It was cloudy all morning but a beautiful day.

Tuesday May 25th

Frank and I hauled manure all day today and got out 19 loads on the corn ground. I put in the time between loads mudding around the hedge and cherry trees in the lane. Dad cleaned out the cellar and had a hard job. Jeff and Manning were in this afternoon. Jeff is making arrangements for an
