The Neurotic Patient

almost always presents a deficiency of the vital elements of the blood, i.e., the essential erythrocytes and their contained hemoglobin. Pepto-Mangan (Gude) overcomes the blood poverty that is so often responsible for neurasthenic conditions, by supplying the immediately available ferric and manganic elements necessary to true hemic reconstruction.

Weather

Temp.

Very cold this morning but warmed up, a little this afternoon. John went to Aylmer & to mill. Helen leaved & the girls was out for tea & then Melba even-home with them to stay all night. Walter Hollins was here this afternoon.
