

I didn't think I would be down to day but I wanted to know if Mary was feeling better. I met Dad & Frank at the quarry with a load of pea silage which they were going to bring out to me but they said as I was not home they would take it home and bring me a load by tomorrow. Mary was feeling better. I called in to see Harry on my way home and he for the first time showed signs of wanting me to take him with me. Beautiful day again but quite a cold breeze.

Thursday March 26th

I've took the carpet up out of the front room this morning and I beat it for her. I didn't get a very early start in I had to go over to the school house twice just to sweep and then to dust. I didn't get over last night and it was very dirty. Dad and Frank come out with a cart with a load of pea silage and when we were loaded it they hooked to the road scraper. We had to pound out the hammer straps before we could get the draw bolt through the double trees and as it was had to use a smaller sized draw bolt. I went with them as far as Evans and then come home to dinner. They intended to go to the town market and back this afternoon but for some reason didn't get back. This afternoon I went down and started to paint Jones name & business on his trees. I took Lou & Guy up to spend the afternoon with Winnie Shand and as it was after six when I got back for them. Ina was having tea and Winnie invited me in too. so it was after dark when we got home. Just as we left there we noticed a few flashes of lightning which increased in number & vividness as we got towards home and finally there commenced the rumblings of thunder. By the time I got the chores all done, there was a full fledged thunder storm in progress. It soon passed over but rained more during the night. Lovely day, warm

Friday March 27th

It was still cloudy and drizzly this morning and has been much cooler today with rain again to night. After I did the chores I went down to finish Jones sign. I drove in at the farm to see what happened to them. yesterday we found that Frank had had to fix a culvert down near
