

more Tomatoes in the afternoon Mch 27th Raining all day - went to Hamletton and got Electric Washer. Blue Bird cost $114⁰⁰ wholesale retail price was $155⁰⁰

Mch 30th. One of the worst storms of the winter snowed all morning raining + sleeting this afternoon man started work this morning at $14.00 per week.

Mch 31st Rained + snowed all night looks like real winter this morning ice + snow over everything and cold north wind blowing hotbeds all covered with ice + snow frozen on them cant open them at all

April 1st. Very cold. ground covered with snow. transplanted one ⁵ spoke frame of Tomatoes. too cold had

April 2nd Sunday cool + cloudy was down home for tea.

April 3rd. Cool + East winds transplanting Tomatoes April 4th made hotbeds for peppers + transplanted Tomatoes about one half of what we done before the ice storm have dropped over April 5th The man that started last week only worked one day never came back, hired another one today. Very cold + cloudy with strong east wind

April 6th. working at hotbeds. cool + cloudy.

April 7th. Strong South west winds + very mild; fixing doors on barn and just finished transplanting Tomatoes 90 sashes.

April 8th started transplanting Peppers Harrowed Asparagus + man drawing brush out of the orchard

April 9th Sunday, turned very warm this afternoon, went over to Ray Bell for tea.