

went home with him and upon his return brought me a very pretty bouquet from Mrs Armer. The vegetation on the Island being altogether tropical was something quite new to me. From the front of the hotel we could see across the road 'a row of Pride of India' trees, in a garden a large rubber tree and plenty of oleanders were to be seen in the distance.

June 27th Tues. By this time pretty well acquainted (at least well enough to speak) with Mr and Mrs Mac Innis of Edinburgh who were staying at the Windsor. They had been there five months and as Mr Mac Innis was working in a Jewellers Store there their stay in Bermuda was to be a long one. Mrs Armer called and brought me a second pretty bouquet. Called with her at Mrs Keepe's who lived over the way.

June 28th Wed. We got a donkey cart after dinner and drove to Armer's, 5 miles; he felt rather absurd perched up in a little cart behind such a small animal. He did not go very rapidly and when upon Front-st he stopped and brayed we felt quite silly. However after a
