

WHERE ?

WHERE in the materia medica does the physician look for the most suitable hemogenetic agent?

WHERE does he find iron and manganese—Nature's hematinics—most scientifically combined in condition for immediate assimilation?

WHERE can he find such a preparation in a form as palatable, bland, non-irritant and readily tolerable as which can be depended upon as a blood-constructing and nutrition-stimulating reconstituent in Anemia, Chlorosis, Bright's Disease, Marasmus and Innutrition generally?

Pepto-Mangan ("Gade")

In original bottles only. Never sold in bulk.

Samples and literature upon application.
