

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1872.

Tuesday July 15th

Maggie arrived today by steamer from Belleville. She looks well though thin and pale. I was uncertain whether she could come or not.

Friday July 25th 1879

The days of a pleasant visit from Maggie have passed away and today she & Jeanie left for Kingston. She will take the midnight train for home. She is cheerful and composed, still I dread her position she is very thin, but active as ever and looks better than she ever did. She gave me a list of Mr. Yong's family, viz Mary, Sarah, Samuel, Susan, Mrs. Wallau, Rosa, Robert, Andrew. She confided to me some other pleasing information regarding her own future plans, but except today - sister Mary came up tonight but missed seeing Maggie as she and Jeanie had gone out to her place, but they did not meet on the road. Mary left for home on Saturday morning.
