335 TO COME

Ureteric or Vesical Calculus.

Now it is a fact which has long since been accepted that a stone lodged in the ureter just near the bladder evokes all the symptoms of stone in the bladder, in addition to those symptoms which arise in the kidney from ureteric obstruction. There is the same frequency of micturition, the same tenesmus, the same meatal pain in juxtavesical ureteric stone as in vesical stone.—Hurry Fenwick; Clinical Journ.

Maude & Estella went to Alhambra this forenoon. Aleta & Eugene came for a load of hay & stayed for dinner. The girls all had a good time taking pictures. Eugene went down to Adams Bingham's. John & Joe was drawing hay & wood this afternoon. He took Estell home to night & is feeling very ill with a cold
