

it clear but there is too much snow to make skating I took my spade up to the garage and left them to be shovelled and then went down to Aunt's for a little while. Aunt was just going to bed and was not feeling at all well all day. Dick was down there looking ten and hasn't been out of the house all day but says he feels better. over here Dad & Enah both have very sore eyes and Enah feels pretty sick inside. Frank went down to night with me and ~~stayed~~ stayed to baby's.

Thursday January 20th

It has drizzled rain all day and every thing is slippery as grease on Sails. inundated. we have just done ch I cleaned out the chicken dropping boards this morning and this afternoon I husked a little corn while Dad cut some shelves to put up in the clothes room. Frank and I did up the night chores and Dad went down to Aunt's for tea. he wanted to see how Aunt & Dick were, he hasn't seen Dick since Sunday. Frank saw him up town to day noon. To night I went down town and stumbled on the evening meeting at the "Never-ready Club" which consists of Mrs. J. ad. Low & Esie. They were all knitting or crocheting so I joined and just talked to them and held some yarn for Mary to wind into balls. I got home about twelve after waiting for nearly two hours in at street for Alon's.

Wednesday Friday January 21st

Enah has at last got the grip she has felt very miserable all day and not been able to sit up or eat at all The baby has a bad cough. This morning I got the chore pretty well done up and this afternoon Dad and I got some more of the chicken shed floor sawn. it wont take very much longer to finish it. To night I walked down to Aunt's with a couple of dozen eggs. Aunt feels better and Dick was up working. I stopped in at "Bunbury's" on my way home and gave Mr. Bunbury a dollar to join the Horticultural Society. Charlie & Art. were out at the farm in a load of straw Very mild all day just like Spring, no cold to night

Saturday January 22nd

Dad has been in the house all day nearly again to day with a head ache. Enah was in bed all morning but felt better and was able to be up this afternoon while the poor baby is about half dead with the croup. He barks just
